CEREMONY FOR INSTALLATION OF OFFICERS SCAFCS STUDENT UNIT SECTION

Setting: Retiring chairman with the new officers on either side of her. Each standing next to the retiring officer whose place the new officer is taking.

The Retiring Chairman speaks:

The American Association of Family and Consumer Sciences Student Unit and the South Carolina Student Unit have adopted the Betty Lamp as their symbol and assume the ideals it represents: simplicity, usefulness, cleanliness, and economy.

The Student Unit is a part of the South Carolina Association of Family and Consumer Sciences and the American Association of Family and Consumer Sciences. The responsibility of guiding this group with its ideals symbolized in the Betty Lamp is an equally large task. The job is only what you, as the executive officers, want to make it. It can be a year packed full of worthwhile things to do - things that will be fun as well as good training. Because the chapters are affiliated with the American Association of Family and Consumer Sciences, you will be expected to keep up professional standards, working with the Association for an ever higher realization of what can be done after the four years of college are over. You have been chosen as leaders. It is an honor that it was you they considered worthy of so great a task. I give you the challenge of guiding this organization toward whatever goals you have planned for 20_.

(As the chairman says the following lines to each newly elected officer, the officer rises and faces the chairman.)

You, _____, of _____ College, as chairman of the South Carolina Student Unit, will be responsible for the leadership in the overall planning. It is your duty to preside at the meetings and to see that all members are informed of the progress of the year's work.

You, _____, of _____ College, as vice-chairman, will be responsible for the developing and carrying out the program of work with the other officers and members.

You, _____, of _____ College, as adviser, will guide the Student Unit so that it upholds the high ideal of this organization.

If you agree to fulfill the duties of your office, please repeat this pledge after me. (Then all stand and repeat after the chairman the pledge facing the gathered members):

"I pledge my loyalty to the South Carolina Student Unit and the American Association of Family and Consumer Sciences. I promise to uphold its aims and ideals and to serve to the best of my ability in my college, my home and my community as it extends from my own neighborhood to the world."

"Let us all renew our faith in the Association and our determination to further its aims and purposes by repeating the pledge together."

"I pledge my loyal support to the ideals and standards of the South Carolina Association of Family and Consumer Sciences Student Unit and the American Association of Family and Consumer Sciences. May the rays of my light serve as an incentive to better myself for those who know me."

SCAFCS PROTOCOL

Protocol is the form of ceremony and etiquette observed by a group. Parliamentary procedure, on the other hand, is the proper manner of conducting a meeting. The two complement each other and provide the basis for our annual meeting functions.

PROTOCOL FOR OFFICERS

In performing the duties of an office, a member will be:

- Familiar with AAFCS and SCAFCS Bylaws.
- Familiar with parliamentary procedures.
- Knowledgeable of SCAFCS policies, procedures, and its history.
- Understanding and capable of exercising the responsibilities and duties of the Board of Directors and/or Executive Committee.
- A servant to the membership, not above the membership.
- A good example for members (being attentive at all times).

PROTOCOL FOR PRESIDING OFFICERS

A good presiding officer:

- Prepares the agenda in advance, giving a copy to the secretary and parliamentarian.
- Follows the agenda closely and with finesse.
- Stands when calling the meeting to order, putting the question to a vote, giving decisions, recognizing speakers, indicating the completion of an action or motion, and declaring adjournment.
- Sits when listening to reports.
- Uses the gavel when calling the meeting to order, maintaining order, and relinquishing the chair.
- Begins the meeting on time.
- Prepares a time schedule and adheres to it as nearly as possible.
- Handles discussions in an orderly manner to give every member who wishes an opportunity to speak, to keep all speakers to rules of order and to question, and to give pro and con speakers opportunities to speak alternately.
- Calls the next ranking officer to the chair when the presiding officer wishes to discuss, to debate, or present a report.
- States each motion clearly before calling for discussion and before it is voted upon, and announces the result "Motion carried" or "Motion defeated".
- Calls for the vote to be counted if the vote is close.
- Speaks distinctly and slowly enough to be understood.
- Avoids saying "Vote by the usual sign". The membership should be informed as to how the vote will be taken.
- Uses discretion in determining business to be voted upon by ballot.
- Stands erect and avoids leaning on the podium or table.
- Says "The motion is not in order" NOT "You are out of order".
- Avoids saying "Those contrary say no". Members may be opposed, but they are not necessarily contrary.
- Refers to self as "The Chair". Avoids the use of "I" when reporting or when speaking; says "Your President" or "The Chair."

- Uses the words “general consent” if sure of feeling of the assembly and no objection is made.
- Asks “What is your pleasure?” when the assembly is hesitant and a motion is needed to take action on a matter.
- Does not allow the business meeting to drag or it may appear the presiding officer is uncertain of self or the situation. However, business should not be rushed, thus avoiding the appearance that the action is being railroaded.
- Recesses a meeting; adjourns a session.
- Knows that only when a report contains a recommendation should there be an adoption of the report by motion.
- Knows that, unless otherwise specified, a quorum is a majority of at least one more than half the membership of the assembly or committee.
- Does not allow minutes to be “dispensed with.” The reading may be postponed or acted upon as printed, distributed, or mailed.
- Consults the parliamentarian in advance of and during the meeting on technical questions or problems. The parliamentarian explains or interprets for the members of the assembly at the request of the presiding officer.
- Gives instructions in simple terms, repeating them exactly as outlined originally and with tact and enthusiasm.
- Is kind and firm, never wavering when making decisions.
- Thinks things through. It may be difficult to retract a statement.
- Requires motions or resolutions to be in writing and given to the chair.
- Thanks each officer and chairman, at the end of the term of office, by a note for their contribution to the work of the organization during this term.
- Achieves esteem by sharing honors and inspiration with all.

PROTOCOL FOR A GOOD HOST OR HOSTESS

Guest Speakers and Program Participants

Correct protocol should be observed at all meetings and stressed at special meetings, conferences, conventions, and banquets when guests are program participants.

8. The hours he or she is expected to attend the occasion. If business is to be transacted after the program, include a sentence in your letter to the guest "So you can complete your plans, it will be possible for you to leave just before the business meeting which begins about ___ o'clock."
9. The possibility of a question and answer period following the address.
10. The financial arrangements, expenses, honorarium. In the case of an honorarium or expenses, the treasurer should have the check ready for presentation at the time of the speaker's departure.

Request the guest speaker to:

- Confirm acceptance by letter.
 - Send advance biographical data and a glossy print photo for the local newspaper.
- NOTE: The guest of honor will appreciate good news coverage, and good news coverage adds to the prestige of the association. The five W's of publicity are Who, What, When, Where, and Why. Press notices should be retained for historical records, and clippings should be sent to the guest.

The invocation should be a brief, earnest prayer acceptable to all faiths. Suggested sources are well-chosen poems, a collect, etc. Three minutes should be ample.

Introductions and Presentations

The Speakers' Table:

Request that applause be withheld until all have been presented. If those at the speakers' table are to rise for recognition, start with the extreme left of the center and then the extreme right, ending with the highest ranking guest.

If each guest is to say a few words of greeting or congratulations, begin with the guest of lowest rank and proceed through the list so that the guest of highest rank is last to speak. (Before the meeting begins, the request for brevity should be made.)

- The president is always at the center of the head table or first place to the right of the podium.

A SHORT HISTORY OF THE SOUTH CAROLINA HOME ECONOMICS ASSOCIATION 1914—1934

Miss Lalla Martin of the city schools of Spartanburg called together the home economics teachers of the state during the State Teachers' Association meeting in order to organize a State Home Economics Association. The teachers responding met at Wofford College in March of 1914 and organized the South Carolina Home Economics Association. The Association continued to be a part of and met with the Teachers' Association until 1928, at which time they began to meet independently. The first plan of work for the Association was the development of a course of Domestic Science to be presented to the State Board of Education for consideration for adoption for the public schools. The poor quality school programs presently in many of the schools prompted this plan of work. The following were the first officers of the Association: President, Miss Lalla Martin, Spartanburg High School; Secretary, Miss Mary B. McGowan, Lander College; Treasurer, Miss Cecil Ramsay, Greenville Women's College, Greenville; and Miss Caroline Southard, Chairman of the Press Committee.

The second meeting of SCAFCS was held on March 26, 1915 in Florence. The same officers were reelected. Committees were appointed on sanitation, cooking and industrial schools, food supply, housekeeping clubs, and sewing. A constitution was adopted and dues were fifty cents.

In 1916 and 1917 SCAFCS continued to meet with the Teachers' Association for a day meeting in Columbia. In 1918 the Association did not meet.

In 1919 the meeting was held in Blue Ridge, NC on June 27. An invitation was extended to Smith-Hughes teachers to become members of the Association. A constitution revision was proposed. There were 11 members mentioned. All were urged to join the National Association and subscribe to the Journal.

In 1920 the Association meeting was held on November 28 in Columbia. It was reported that 15 members of SCAFCS were members of the National Association. In 1921 the Association again met in Spartanburg on November 26. The program focused on undernourished children and the encouragement of preventative health measures.

By 1922 the membership of the Association had grown to 32. The dues are now $1.50 with National receiving $1.00 and the state receiving fifty cents. The attendance at this meeting was 52.

In 1923 the Association again met in Columbia on April 13. At this meeting a Home Economics scholarship was established. In 1924 the Association increased dues to $2.00 and the scholarship was voted to be a minimum of $50.00.

Columbia was again the site of the March 27, 1925 meeting, with a total of 55 in attendance.

Those attending were college teachers, high school teachers, vocational teachers and extension workers. The membership had grown to 141 members and the scholarship fund now totaled $125.00.

In 1926 the first three-day meeting was held in Columbia on March 18-20. There were 35 in attendance. The first mention of an Association newsletter was made at this time. One student club was organized and joined the Association. The scholarship fund now reached $187.75.

In 1927 the Association meeting was held in Greenville on March 25. There were 30 in attendance. A bank failure caused a loss of Association funds. Plans for the American Home Economics Association in Asheville were discussed. A change in the State Teachers' Association constitution made it necessary for SCAFCS to propose a change in its constitution which would lead to SCAFCS becoming an independent association. The State Teachers' Association constitution has a provision which stated "No department of the State Teachers' Association could be affiliated with another organization and pay dues to it".

In 1928 the Association met in Columbia on May 4-5. The proposed constitutional changes were accepted, making the Association independent of the State Teachers' Association. The Association set a membership goal of 100.

The fifteenth meeting was held in Rock Hill on December 7-8, 1929. The attendance was 75 and the scholarship fund had reached $355.00.

In 1930 the Association met in Columbia on February 21-22. The membership had doubled and there were 5 student clubs.

During the seventeenth meeting of the Association, exhibits became a part of their educational experience. The exhibits included new books and inexpensive illustrative material. The meeting was held in Columbia on February 20-21, 1931. A district meeting was held in Greenville.

The Association met in 1932 in Columbia on February 19-20. Again, in 1933 the Association met in Columbia on February 24-25. During this meeting the constitution was amended to create an Executive Board which would include the Executive Committee and the State Chairman of the various committees. The Board was to meet once a year upon the call of the President. This group was to be called the Board of Directors.

In 1934 the Association met on February 23-24 in Columbia with 42 present. During this meeting it was reported that the Winthrop College student club has applied for entrance into the National Honorary Society of Phi Upsilon Omicron.

This short history of the beginning and early years of SCAFCS is a summary of the History of SCAFCS compiled in 1937 by Harriette B. Layton, Assistant State Home Demonstration Agent, Winthrop College, Rock Hill, SC.

HISTORY - NAME CHANGE

From South Carolina Home Economics Association to South Carolina Association of Family and Consumer Sciences
By - Carol J. Webb, Ed.D., C.F.C.S.

In 1992 Dr. Linda Harriman, the president of AHEA, called a group together which represented five major home economics associations to convene a meeting and process in which the name home economics would be supported or a new name for the profession would be selected. The five associations represented were the American Home Economics Association, the National Association of Extension Home Economists, the American Association of Vocational Home Economics Teachers, the National Council of Administrators of Home Economics and the Association of Administrators of Home Economics. Dr. Leola Adams and Dr. Carol Webb served on this planning group which was called the National Taskforce for Professional Unity and Identity. This group planned a meeting and a process to get input from the grass roots of the profession in looking at the name change and the pros and cons of keeping the name home economics. One hundred delegates were invited representing a diverse group of professionals from these five major associations and sister associations whose members came from the field of home economics.

The Scottsdale Meeting, as it came to be called, was held in Scottsdale Arizona October 21 -24, 1993. There 80 delegates used a facilitator and a compression planning process to come up with a new name for the profession. The name finally selected was Family and Consumer Sciences. South Carolina had two delegates in addition to the two Taskforce members mentioned above who were Queen Bowman and Dr. Diane Smathers. At the Assembly of Delegates in San Diego, S California the American Home Economics Association voted to change its name to the American Association of Family and Consumer Sciences in June of 1994. The South Carolina Home Economics Association formally changed its name by the vote at the business meeting in February of 1995 to the South Carolina Association of Family and Consumer Sciences.

HOME ECONOMICS STANDS FOR:

The utilization of all the resources of modern science to improve the home life.

The freedom of the home from the dominance of things and their due subordination to ideals.

The simplicity in material surroundings which will most free the spirit for the more important and permanent interests of the home and of society.
